Senior Voice Students Kickoff Sunday Series

Clayton, NY – The 2010 Clayton Opera House “Sunday Series” opens on June 27 with a performance by Watertown music teacher Ticia Marra’s senior vocal studio. The “Sunday Series,” which takes place every other Sunday at 4:00 pm for only $5 a person, provides professional performance opportunities to regional artists. This year’s season will begin on June 27 and will feature six diverse performances through September 12.

Ticia Marra's vocal studio presents the 2010 Senior recital featuring seniors William Boulter III, graduate of Watertown High School, Shannon Elliott, graduate of Immaculate Heart Central, and Laura Schimpf, graduate of Watertown High School. The students will be accompanied by The Trillium String Trio. All three students are also members of Ticia Marra's Stage Notes and will be performing in their upcoming production of “Grease” at The JCC Sturtz Theater on July 8, 9, and 10.

Along with Ticia Marra's Studio, the series will feature many other diverse performances. Many of the acts that were well-received last Summer Season will return with some new acts, including River Rat Rhythm Project on July 11, Soul Window on July 25, Grapeful Redneck Wine Trail Band on August 8, Johnston School of Irish Dance on August 22, and the all male ensemble, Voices of the River on September 12.

In addition to these performances sponsored by TIPAF, many artists and organizations also program events in the Opera House. A complete calendar of events is available at www.ClaytonOperaHouse.com.
